Summary:

My name is Joseph Yu. I will be ecstatic to assist you in creating and debugging useful APIs and writing documentation.

I am generally creative and accountable. I am always brimming with new ideas, and I will never miss a deadline for a project segment. I am incredibly good at recognizing connections quickly and passing down concepts through graphs and analogies. I can be disorganized at times but am nonetheless a responsible and dependable contributor to projects, especially in conjunction with a team effort. I am excellent at acting as a mediator in times of conflict. I am willing to work overtime and will always attempt to exceed the common standards of the workplace, no matter what those might be.
